STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On April 2, 2008, a federal grand jury in the Southern District of California returned a two-count Indictment charging defendant Edgar Leonel Natal ("Natal") with Importation of Marijuana, in violation of Title 21, United States Code, Sections 952, 960 and Possession of Marijuana With Intent to Distribute, in violation of Title 21, United States Code, Section 841(a)(1). On April 7, 2008, Defendant was arraigned on the Indictment and entered a plea of not guilty.

II

STATEMENT OF FACTS

On October 16, 2007, at 3:53 a.m., Defendant entered the United States via the San Ysidro Port of Entry. He was the sole occupant and driver of a silver 1992 Dodge Ram 250 van. Defendant presented a California Driver's License and claimed U.S. Citizenship. He told the Customs and Border Protection ("CBP") Officer that he was on his way to work. He also stated that he had purchased the van a couple of days earlier. Searching the van further, the CBP officer discovered a non-factory compartment affixed to the undercarriage of the van. CBP inspectors discovered a metal access panel in the rear cargo area of the van; when the panel was removed, the inspectors found 35 packages wrapped in tape. The packages contained 82.39 kgs. (181.06 lbs.) of marijuana. CBP inspectors discovered in the van a copy of the vehicle's registration. The registration indicated that the van was registered in Defendant's name on November 30, 2006, more than 10 months prior.

Immigration and Customs Enforcement Agent Tim Koupal advised Defendant of his rights under Miranda. Agent Koupal obtained a written waiver from Defendant in the English language.

Defendant agreed to answer questions without a lawyer present. During the videotaped interview, Defendant stated that he was paid $700 to drive the vehicle into the United States. He denied knowing there were drugs in the vehicle, claiming that he thought the van contained two illegal aliens.

III

IN-LIMINE MOTIONS OF THE UNITED STATES

A. THE COURT SHOULD EXCLUDE WITNESSES DURING TRIAL WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE GOVERNMENT'S CASE AGENT

Under Federal Rule of Evidence 615(3), "a person whose presence is shown by a party to be essential to the presentation of the party's cause" should not be ordered excluded from the court during trial. The case agent in the present matter has been critical in moving the investigation forward to this point and is considered by the United States to be an integral part of the trial team. The United States requests that Defendant's testifying witnesses be excluded during trial pursuant to Rule 615.

B. DEFENDANT SHOULD BE PROHIBITED FROM ARGUING PUNISHMENT, EDUCATION, HEALTH, AGE, FAMILY CIRCUMSTANCES, AND FINANCES TO THE JURY

Defense counsel may wish to raise potential penalties Defendant faces if convicted. Information about penalty and punishment draws the attention of the jury away from their chief function as the sole judges of the facts, opens the door to compromised verdicts, and confuses the issues to be decided. United States v. Olano, 62 F.3d 1180, 1202 (9th Cir. 1995). In federal court, the jury is not permitted to consider punishment in deciding whether the Government has proved its case against the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt. 9th Cir. Crim. Jury Instr. §7.4 (2003). Any such argument or reference would be an improper attempt to have the jury unduly influenced by sympathy for the defendant and prejudiced against the Government. See 9th Cir. Jury Inst. § 3.1 (2000).

Therefore, the Government hereby moves in limine for the Court to order defense counsel not to mention any penalty or punishment to the jury or to solicit testimony regarding the same.

Likewise, the defense should be prohibited from making reference to or arguing about Defendant's education, health, age, family circumstances, and finances. Defendant may attempt to introduce evidence designed to improperly arouse the sympathy of the jury, such as evidence of his age or personal background. The court should preclude Defendant from presenting such evidence under

1 the Federal Rules of Evidence 401, 402, and 403.

2 Testimony about Defendant's education, health, age, family circumstances, and finances are
3 patently irrelevant to the issues in this case. Rule 401 defines "relevant evidence" as "evidence having
4 any tendency to make the existence of any fact that is consequence to the determination of the action
5 more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence." Rule 402 states the evidence
6 "which is not relevant is not admissible." Testimony about Defendant's age and personal background
7 are of no consequence to the determination of any essential facts in this case. Likewise, a defendant's
8 right to testify is not absolute. That right does not authorize a defendant to present irrelevant testimony.
9 See, United States v. Adams, 56 F.3d 737 (7th Cir. 1995) (proper to exclude video of defendant's
10 children opening gifts on Christmas because video would only develop sympathy for accused and would 11 not establish defendant's whereabouts two days earlier).

12 Furthermore, the introduction of such evidence would violate Fed. R. Evid. 403. That rule
13 allows a court to exclude relevant evidence where the danger of unfair prejudice or confusion of the 14 issues outweighs the probative value of such evidence. A trial court has "wide latitude" to exclude such 15 prejudicial or confusing evidence. See United States v. Saenz, 179 F.3d 686, 689 (9th Cir. 1999). The 16 admission of testimony about defendant's education, health, age, and finances will tend "to induc[e]
17 decisions on a purely emotional basis . . ." in violation of Rule 403. See, Fed. R. Evid. 403 Advisory 18 Committee Notes; United States v. Ellis, 147 F.3d 1131, 1135 (9th Cir. 1998). Juries should not be 19 influenced by sympathy. 9th Cir. Crim. Jury Instr. § 3.1 (2003).

20 Thus, the Government moves in limine for the court to order defense counsel not to introduce 21 such testimony from Defendant or from any witnesses.

22 C. ADMIT EXPERT TESTIMONY BY GOVERNMENT WITNESSES

23 The United States expects to present expert testimony by a DEA chemist who determined the 24 substance found in Defendant's vehicle was marijuana and by an ICE Special Agent who has 25 determined the wholesale and retail values of the marijuana in Mexico and San Diego County in 26 October 2007. The Court should admit expert testimony by these two witnesses.

27 If specialized knowledge will assist the trier-of-fact in understanding the evidence or 28 determining a fact in issue, a qualified expert witness may provide opinion testimony on the issue in question. Fed. R. Evid. 702. It is within the sound discretion of the trial judge to determine whether or not expert testimony would assist in understanding the facts at issue. United States v. Alonso, 48 F.3d 1536, 1539 (9th Cir. 1995); United States v. Lennick, 18 F.3d 814, 821 (9th Cir. 1994). An expert's opinion may be based on hearsay or facts not in evidence where the facts or data relied upon are of the type reasonably relied upon by experts in the field. Fed. R. Evid. 703. An expert may provide opinion testimony even if it embraces an ultimate issue to be decided by the trier-of-fact. Fed. R. Evid. 704.

The United States expects to present the testimony of the DEA chemist that the substance seized from the car was marijuana.^{1/} At trial, the United States will be required to prove that Defendant knowingly brought marijuana into the United States and that Defendant knew it was marijuana or some other prohibited drug. See 9th Cir. Crim. Jury Instr. § 9.27 (2003). The United States will also have to show that Defendant knowingly possessed marijuana. See 9th Cir. Crim. Jury Instr. § 9.13 (2003). Defendant's importation and possession of marijuana, or some other controlled substance, are elements of the offenses with which she is charged. Thus, expert testimony that the substance seized from Defendant's car was marijuana, a controlled substance, is relevant and should be admitted. See 9th Cir. Crim. Jury Instr. 9.13 (2003) (stating, "It does not matter whether the defendant knew that the substance was [marijuana]. It is sufficient that the defendant knew it was some kind of prohibited drug."). See also United States v. Orduno-Aguilera, 183 F.3d 1138, 1140 (9th Cir. 1999) (finding government failed to meet its burden of proving that controlled substance defendant was accused of importing and possessing met statutory definition).

In addition, the United States intends to present expert testimony by a federal agent regarding the wholesale and retail values of the marijuana seized from Defendant's vehicle. Specifically, Special Agent Jerry Conrad of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement will testify as to the wholesale and retail price range for the amount of seized marijuana in the border region of Mexico and in San Diego County, California. The agent will also testify about how marijuana is consumed by the typical end-

^{1/}To date, the United States and Defendant have not entered into a stipulation regarding the type or quantity of drug that was seized from Defendant's car. If the parties are able to reach a stipulation, the admissibility of expert testimony about drug type will be moot.

1 user. The expert will testify that the amount of marijuana seized from Defendant's car was far greater
2 than a consumer would possess for personal use.

3 The value expert's testimony on the wholesale and retail values of the marijuana seized in this
4 case is relevant to Defendant's intent to distribute. See United States v. Savinovich, 845 F.2d 834, 838
5 (9th Cir. 1988) (finding that price and quantity of narcotics is relevant to defendant's intent to 6 distribute). The Ninth Circuit has upheld the admissibility of expert testimony as to the retail value of 7 drugs. See United States v. Ogbuehi, 18 F.3d 807, 812 (9th Cir. 1994) ("DEA agents can testify as to 8 the street value of narcotics . . . and counsel can argue reasonable inferences from it.") (citation
9 omitted); see also United States v. Ramirez, 176 F.3d 1179, 1181 (9th Cir. 1999) (finding it "reasonable
10 to infer that a $37,120 shipment of marijuana would not be entrusted to the driver of the vehicle without 11 the driver's knowledge"). Accordingly, no basis exists for excluding this testimony as to the value of 12 the drugs.

13 It is expected that Agent Conrad will base his opinions on his experience investigating these
14 types of cases, as well as his experience interviewing drug traffickers, debriefing confidential
15 informants, and discussing drug value information with other agents.

16 The United States does not intend to introduce expert testimony regarding structure in its case-
17 in-chief. If the United States presents such evidence in rebuttal, it will do so consistent with United 18 States v. Vallejo, 237 F.3d 1008, as amended, 241 F.3d 1150 (9th Cir. 2001).

19 D. DOCUMENTS SEIZED AT TIME OF DEFENDANT'S ARREST ARE 20 ADMISSIBLE

21 Ninth Circuit law is clear that the documents seized from a defendant at the time of arrest are 22 properly admissible against that defendant. At the time of Defendant's arrest, documents were seized
23 pertaining to the registration of the car he was driving. The United States should be permitted to use
24 in its prosecution these items taken from Defendant.

25 These personal items in Defendant's possession show dominion and control of the vehicle and 26 its contents. Documents relating to the vehicle Defendant was driving when the marijuana was found
27 are admissible as adopted admissions by a party opponent and are not excluded by the hearsay rule. See 28 Fed. R. Evid. 801(d)(2)(B). In addition, certified copies of documents from certain governmental

1 agencies, such as the California Department of Motor Vehicles, are self-authenticating. Fed.R.Evid.
 2 801(c), 803(6) & (8), 902(4) & (11). See United States v. DeWater, 846 F.2d 528, 530 (9th Cir.
 3 1988)(finding registration of vehicles by DMV is a routine, non-adversarial activity); United States v.
 4 Abascal, 564 F.2d 821, 830 (9th Cir. 1977), cert. denied sub nom. Frakes v. United States, 435 U.S. 942
 5 (1977).

6 E. THE COURT SHOULD ALLOW THE ADMISSION OF DUPLICATES

7 In the alternative, copies of all of the above-mentioned documents items were made by the case
 8 agent on the night of Defendant's arrest. In the event that the original documents and items that were 9 in Defendant's possession are no longer available, the Court should allow the introduction of copies
 10 of these documents and items. The Government anticipates having a witness with knowledge of both 11 the originals in Defendant's possession as well as the copies that were made at the time of his arrest.

12 A duplicate is admissible to the same extent as an original unless (1) a genuine question is raised
 13 as to the authenticity of the original, or (2) under circumstances, it would be unfair to admit the 14 duplicate instead of the original. Fed.R.Evid. 103. The foundation for these duplicates can be 15 established, so they should be admitted at trial.

16 F. THE COURT SHOULD NOT REQUIRE THE UNITED STATES TO PROVE
 17 EACH LINK IN THE CHAIN OF CUSTODY OF THE MARIJUANA

18 The United States intends to introduce evidence of the bulk marijuana discovered in a non-
 19 factory compartment on the underside of Defendant's vehicle when he entered the United States.
 20 Evidence of the marijuana, which was first seized by inspectors and later tested by a DEA chemist, is 21 admissible because there is a presumption of regularity in its handling by these public officials and the 22 testimony of these witnesses will show that the marijuana has not changed in a material way since its 23 seizure. The United States should not be required to prove every link in the chain of custody in order
 24 for marijuana evidence to be admissible.

25 The test of admissibility of physical objects connected with the commission of a crime requires 26 a showing that the object is in substantially the same condition as when the crime was committed (or 27 the object seized). Factors to be considered are the nature of the article, the circumstances surrounding 28 its preservation and custody, and the likelihood of inter-meddlers tampering with it. There is, however,

1 a presumption of regularity in the handling of exhibits by public officials. United States v. Kaiser, 660
2 F.2d 724, 733 (9th Cir. 1981), cert. denied, 445 U.S. 856 (1982), overruled on other grounds, United
3 States v. DeBright, 730 F.2d 1255, 1259 (9th Cir. 1984) (en banc).

4 If this Court finds that there is a reasonable possibility that a piece of evidence has not changed
5 in a material way, the Court has the discretion to admit the evidence. Id.

6 The United States is not required, in establishing chain of custody, to call all persons who may
7 have come into contact with the piece of evidence. Gallego v. United States, 276 F.2d 914, 917 (9th
8 Cir. 1960).

9 The marijuana seized from Defendant's car was marked, photographed, secured, and transported
10 in accordance with standard operating procedures. Because the marijuana has not changed in a material
11 way and has been properly preserved, the United States should not have to prove every link in the chain
12 of custody from the time it was seized through the time of trial.

13 Moreover, the Government intends to bring the bulk marijuana into the courtroom. The jury
14 is entitled to observe and see for themselves the packages the Government contends contain marijuana.
15 The marijuana is the very essence of the crimes charged in the indictment. The presence of the 16 marijuana is not overly prejudicial under Rule 403 as the jury will hear about the weight charged in the 17 indictment, through witness testimony, and in the jury instructions. Furthermore, the weight and its 18 value are circumstantial evidence of Defendant's knowledge.

19 G. THE COURT SHOULD ADMIT DEMEANOR EVIDENCE

20 Evidence regarding a defendant's demeanor and physical appearance is admissible as 21 circumstantial evidence that is helpful to the jury's determination as to whether a defendant knew drugs
22 were concealed in the vehicle. Fed.R.Evid. 701; United States v. Hursh, 217 F.3d 761 (9th Cir. 2000)
23 (jury may consider defendant's nervousness during questioning at a port of entry); United States v.
24 Fuentes-Cariaga, 209 F.3d 1140, 1144 (9th Cir. 2000) (it is within the ordinary province of jurors to 25 draw inferences from an undisputed fact such as a defendant's nervousness at Calexico Port of Entry);
26 United States v. Barbosa, 906 F.2d 1366, 1368 (9th Cir. 1990) (jury could infer guilty knowledge from 27 a defendant's apparent nervousness and anxiety during airport inspection); United States v. Lui, 941
28 F.2d 844, 848 (9th Cir. 1991) (jury could consider guilty knowledge from a defendant's acting

1 disinterested during airport inspection).

2 It is anticipated that Government witnesses may testify about Defendant's demeanor at the time
3 he crossed the border. United States inspectors and agents may properly testify to Defendant's
4 behavior, demeanor, and physical appearance, because they have personal knowledge based upon their
5 observations of Defendant. Accordingly, this evidence should be admitted.

6 H. TESTIMONY OF CHARACTER WITNESSES

7 In introducing positive character evidence, a defendant must restrict himself to evidence
8 regarding "law abidingness" and honesty. A defendant may not introduce evidence concerning specific 9 instances of good conduct, lack of a prior record, or propensity to engage in specific bad acts such as 10 drug smuggling or distribution. United States v. Hedgecorth, 873 F.2d 1307, 1313 (9th Cir. 1987)
11 ("[W]hile a defendant may show a characteristic for lawfulness through opinion or reputation
12 testimony, evidence of specific acts is generally inadmissible.") (citations omitted); United States v.
13 Barry, 814 F.2d 1400, 1403 (9th Cir. 1987); Government of Virgin Islands v. Grant, 775 F.2d 508, 512
14 (3d Cir. 1985) ("[T]estimony that one has never been arrested is especially weak character evidence".)

15 Any character evidence Defendant seeks to introduce at trial, therefore, should be limited to 16 evidence regarding his law abidingness and honesty. Character evidence beyond the scope of these two 17 traits would be inappropriate.

18 I. PRECLUDE EXPERT TESTIMONY BY DEFENSE WITNESSES

19 Defendant must disclose written summaries of testimony that Defendant intends to use under 20 Rules 702, 703, or 705 of the Federal Rules of Evidence as evidence at trial. The summaries are to 21 describe the witness's opinions, the bases and reasons for those opinions, and the witness's
22 qualifications. While defense counsel may wish to call an expert to testify, Defendant has provided
23 neither notice of any expert witness, nor any reports by expert witnesses. Accordingly, Defendant
24 should not be permitted to introduce any expert testimony if she fails to disclose such information prior 25 to trial.

26 If the Court determines that Defendant may introduce expert testimony, the United States
27 requests a hearing to determine this expert's qualifications and relevance of the expert's testimony
28 pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 702 and Kumho Tire Co. v. Carmichael, 526 U.S. 137, 150

1 (1999). See United States v. Rincon, 11 F.3d 922 (9th Cir. 1993) (affirming the district court's decision
2 to not admit the defendant's proffered expert testimony because there had been no showing that the
3 proposed testimony related to an area that was recognized as a science or that the proposed testimony
4 would assist the jury in understanding the case); see also United States v. Hankey, 203 F.3d 1160, 1167
5 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 530 U.S. 1268 (2000).

6 IV

7 CONCLUSION

8 For the reasons set forth above, the United States respectfully requests that the Court grant its 9 motions in limine.
